Behold a republic standing erect, with the empires all around her bowed beneath the weight of their own armaments—a republic whose flag is loved while other flags are only feared.—William Jennings Bryan.

BEHIND THE TIMES.

The Inquirer, with the dullness of a double-eyed dotard, says that Bryan cannot be trusted, is unfit, unworthy and would not be a safe president. Such not only characterizes its author as a narrow, perverted partisan. There are many right-thinking Republicans who will condemn such tactics. They will also gladly admit to the honesty, ability and unimpeachable character of William J. Bryan. The paper that resorts to such miserable methods only besmirches itself. A citizen of the United States whom one of the great political parties has honored with the nomination for president should be exempt from the attacks of the mud-slinger. "It takes no ordinary amount of knowledge on the part of any good citizen to see that this is a dangerous and wicked business and should have no part in the politics of a free and intelligent people."

In its campaign methods the Inquirer is behind the times.

THE CAMPAIGN IN THE COUNTY.

The campaign in the county has not been marked by any excessive bitterness by either party. The people this year have been earnestly studying the questions at issue and have given respectful attention to the speakers who addressed them. Many of those who have been on the stump compare the present preliminary battle to that of 1892, when, on election day, the people arose in their majesty and might and swept from power the dominant party, and there are those who firmly believe that history will repeat itself next Tuesday.

The issues at stake this year are of such vital importance that every Democrat should realize that it is his supreme duty to go to the polls and help to decide the questions involved in this remarkable campaign. He should not only go to the booth himself, but should see that his neighbors go also. And he should have no difficulty in deciding how he ought to cast his ballot. The national issue is, in a nutshell, whether or not we should still cling to the principles which have heretofore been a beacon light to guide our nation safely past the perilous shoals which surround it, and to uphold those doctrines we have the bravest and most brilliant statesman of the century. There is no reason why any American citizen should hesitate to vote for William J. Bryan, who is an able champion of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

The next question to be decided by the voters of Pennsylvania is whether or not they should endorse the awful carnival of corruption, which has stigmatized the grand old Keystone state, and give the disgraceful machine another opportunity to revel in its mad riot of fraud and robbery. On this matter the voter should not hesitate, but should be glad for a chance to strike a blow at the Quay oligarchy, which has the people of Pennsylvania by the throat, by voting for those true patriots, honest and upright citizens, who would not countenance the practices of the political pirates, but would do their utmost to bring about needed reforms in the state government. We refer to Hon. Edmund S. Doty and Dr. Walter F. Enfield, our candidates for the legislature.

Then, getting nearer home, the voter should select the man who will fill the county offices in the most satisfactory manner. The ability and honesty of the Democratic candidates are well known and they should receive the support of all good citizens. Vote for William H. Cuppert, nominee for county judge; Christopher C. Snell, candidate for poor director, and Malachi L. Snyder, nominee for jury commissioner.

THE VOTER'S DUTY.

Next Tuesday the people of the United States will be called upon to decide several momentous questions. The issues of the campaign now so near its end are of supreme importance. They affect the very life of the nation and should arouse every patriot to a keen sense of the responsibility which rests upon him. Each voter should carefully and conscientiously study the policies of the parties which claim his support. He should know what he will endorse when he casts his ballot on November 6.

The present position of the Republican candidate for president is well known and it is fair to presume that if he is re-elected he will not change his policy with regard to the vital issues. The man who casts his vote for William McKinley will endorse imperialism and its train of evils—suffering, loot, bloodshed, dishonor, a large standing army, etc.; he will give the trusts, which prey upon the poor, a new lease of life; he will sanction the crime committed against the poor Porto Ricans; he will endorse the administration's recognition of polygamy and slavery in one of its possessions; he will express his satisfaction with the president's Philippine policy, in accordance with which patriots struggling for freedom are ruthlessly shot down in an unrighteous and unauthorized war of conquest; he will ignore the "embalmed beef" and other army scandals and the pilferings of public officials in Cuba and Porto Rico; he will approve of colonialism. In a word, he will trample upon the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence—he will forsake American principles and follow strange gods.

A ballot cast for William Jennings Bryan will mean a vote for justice and freedom for the Filipinos; an end to unjust warfare; a death-blow to trusts; an honest government; no imperialism. In brief, it will add in the restoration of the policies of the fathers, which have made this country great in the eyes of the civilized world. It will be an endorsement of the cardinal principle of the party of Jefferson—"Equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

The American citizen should pause before entering the booth next week and decide whether it is his duty to endorse the anglo-imperial policy of William of Canton or the American principles of William J. Bryan, the tribune of the people.

A BRYAN TIDAL WAVE.

The Democratic national congressional committee has issued a statement concerning the presidential campaign, of which the following is a part:

"A tidal wave of Democracy is sweeping over the country and indications now point to the greatest popular vote for Bryan November 6 ever given to any Democratic presidential candidate. The great popular uprising in favor of Bryan is not confined to any particular section of the country. It is universal.

"It is universally conceded, even by the Republican leaders, that Mr. Bryan has lost nothing of the strength he had in 1896, when less than 25,000 votes, properly distributed, would have elected him. It, therefore, follows that this year he will receive at least as many votes as in 1896, plus the natural increase in the number of young Democratic voters who have come of age since the last national campaign. But this year Mr. Bryan has many elements of strength which he lacked in 1896, and which are sufficient to insure him a tremendous majority, both in the popular vote and the electoral college."

"In 1896 the German vote went almost entirely for McKinley. This year Mr. Bryan will receive, by the most conservative estimate, sixty per cent. of this vote. A gain of ten per cent. in the German vote alone is sufficient to carry several of the so-called doubtful states and elect the Democratic national ticket."

"Four years ago the labor vote was largely given to McKinley on the alleged 'prosperity' issue. This year the vote of organized labor, numbering hundreds of thousands, will be cast for Bryan. This vote alone is sufficient to carry several 'doubtful' states for Bryan and Stevenson.

decide the election in certain states and give the national victory to the Democracy.
"As against this tremendous and overwhelming change in popular sentiment in favor of the Democratic national ticket the Republicans have nothing to fix their hope on except Hanna's 'corruption fund.' And this will not suffice. Four years ago every man who could be bought or coerced was handled by the Republican managers. They can do no worse this year. But the elements mentioned above, who have joined the Democratic ranks since 1896, are not purchasable. They have come over to the Democrat to party and its candidates from principle, and are in the fight to stay. These are the true elements of American greatness, because they represent the best citizenship, the highest thought and the truest conscience of the American people. The issue is sharply defined between the republic and the empire, and the people will win, as they have always won every great political battle in our history. The Bryan tidal wave is sweeping over the whole country, gaining strength everywhere."

Get out the vote!

WILLIAM H. CUPPERT is admirably equipped to fill the position of associate judge and should be elected by a handsome majority.

OUR candidates for congressmen—large, H. E. Grim and N. M. Edwards, are in every respect worthy the support of all voters, regardless of politics.

EVERY Democrat should vote for our candidate for auditor general, P. Gray Meek. He is a clean, upright, intelligent man and will fill the position with credit to himself and his state.

THE Democratic candidate for vice president, Adlai E. Stevenson, is a man of marked ability and unimpeachable character and if elected will perform his duties in a praiseworthy manner.

CHRISTOPHER C. SNELL would make a model director of the poor. Help to place him on guard at the almshouse and thus avoid a repetition of the duplicity that has disgraced this institution in the past.

NOTHING can defeat Bryan and Stevenson but corruption and coercion. Let the sovereign people arise in their might next Tuesday and vote as their conscience dictates and thus acquit themselves like men.

There is a crying need for reform in the affairs of state and this can only be brought about by the election of such men as Hon. Edmund S. Doty and Dr. Walter F. Enfield. Place upon record as being in favor of honest government by voting for Messrs. Enfield and Doty.

THE Republican party is making a great ado about prosperity. And well it may, for the Republican party is now constituted—consisting chiefly of Mark Hanna and the trusts—surely of toil? This same combination that is crowding over its well-filled coffers wrung its wealth from the masses. Are the farmers, the mechanics, the clerks and other toilers getting their share of this boasted prosperity that McKinley has poured into the laps of the favored few?

Nobody will believe the Inquirer's silly assertion that Bryan is unfriendly to the laborer. There never was a presidential candidate who is nearer to the sons of toil. He is entirely free from the baleful influences that have our syndicated president in their coils. Bryan is a true type of the American citizen—a man who will not bow the knee to potentate or plutocrat, but recognizes the rights of all men, whether born with a silver spoon in their mouths or in the humblest home in the country. Bryan is a true friend of the men of the farm, the forge and the factory, and they will make a mistake if they heed the puerile palaver of a paper which permits its partisan spirit to placate its panderer.

An exchange tries to prove that the president is against the trusts by quoting from his "last message to congress on December 5, 1899." Overlooking the discrepancy in the date and granting that at the time mentioned McKinley was opposed to the trusts, the fact that the man from Ohio is at present unwilling to use his power to crush these tyrants is patent to all. The appalling increase of these enterprises is prima facie evidence that the president has changed his mind since 1899. But that isn't surprising. McKinley has been on all sides of all questions at one time or another, and as long as he is president the contributors to Mark Hanna's corruption fund will twist him about their fingers and fatten their purses from the money fleeced from the people. The only way to get rid of the trusts is to elect William Jennings Bryan.

A famous scientist predicts that the world will come to an end in 1914, basing his calculations on the revelations of the Bible. If this is so, it will be for us to get what pleasure we can out of the few years that remain for us to live. One of the surest ways to enjoy life is the possession of good health, and a well regulated stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will help you to obtain this. It is the greatest medicine for the cure of all that arise from a bad stomach. It cures dyspepsia, constipation, fever and ague, malaria, rheumatism and ismnia. No other medicine can show a record equal to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the standard medicine of the American people for over fifty years.

INFAMY IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Is Characterized as the Most Shameful Crime in the History of America.

The National Association of Anti-Imperialist Clubs has sent out a declaration signed by more than 500 officers of minor clubs in all parts of the United States. The declaration is a denunciation of the McKinley administration for its policy in the Philippines. It is a "rabid and treasonable" document, the names to the monster document are those of men prominent in every state. The paper says:

"We, the undersigned officers of the National Association of Anti-Imperialist Clubs, submit the following as a synopsis of our position and invite the support of members of this association and of patriotic voters generally.

Then follows a protest against the taxation by the administration of Porto Rico.

"We object," declares the paper, "to the recognition of slavery and polygamy by the McKinley administration in its illegal treaty with reference to the Sulu islands as an outrage against the letter and the spirit of American law."

"We object to the suppression and perversion of news and information by the McKinley administration, either by means of censorship at Washington or by a subsidized press, as the most immediate danger threatening American liberty."

"We object, as a people still devoted to righteousness, to the infamy committed in the Philippine islands by our own troops as well as upon a people innocent of any offense whatever toward our nation, as the most shameful official crime in the annals of American history."

"We object to every form of tacit understanding by the McKinley administration with monarchial governments which deprives a people struggling for self-preservation and a republican form of government in South Africa of the moral support and sympathy which our government would gladly extend."

"We object to the arbitrary exercise of executive power by the McKinley administration, unrestrained by the provision of the Constitution or by the customs or usages of more than a century."

Then follows an appeal for all voters to oppose the McKinley administration.

THE UNJUST STEWARD. Luke 16: 1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

Jesus said also unto His disciples, "There was a certain rich man, which had a steward; and the same was accused unto him that he was wasting his goods. And he called him and said unto him, 'What is this that I hear of thee? Render the account of thy stewardship, for thou canst be no longer steward.' And the steward said within himself, 'What shall I do, seeing that my lord taketh away the stewardship from me? I have not strength to die; to beg I am ashamed. I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses."

"And calling to him each one of his lord's debtors, he said to the first, 'How much owest thou unto my lord?' And he said, 'A hundred measures of oil.' And he said unto him, 'Take thy bond and write fifty.' And he did so quickly and wrote fifty. And he said to another, 'And how much owest thou?' He said, 'An hundred measures of wheat.' He said unto him, 'Take thy bond and write four score.' And his lord commended the unrighteous steward because he had done wisely, for the sons of this world are for their own generation wiser than the children of light."

"And I say unto you, Make to yourselves friends by means of the mammon of unrighteousness that, when it shall fail, they may receive you into eternal tabernacles. He that is faithful in a very little is faithful also in much; and he that is unrighteous in a very little is unrighteous also in much. If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to you your true riches? And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another's, who will give you that which is your own? No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

And the Pharisees, who were lovers of money, heard all these things, and they scoffed at Him. And He said unto them, "Ye are they which justify yourselves in the sight of men; but God knoweth your hearts, for that which is exalted among men is an abomination in the sight of God. The law and the prophets were unto John the Baptist, and the gospel of the kingdom of God is preached and every man entreateth violently into it. But it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one tittle of the law to fail. Every one that putteth away his wife and marryeth another committeth adultery; and he that marryeth one that is put away from her husband by another man, he also committeth adultery."

Be ye free from the love of money; content with such things as ye have, for Himself hath said, 'I will in no wise fail thee, neither will I in anywise forsake thee.' So that with good courage we say, The Lord is my Helper; I will not fear. What shall man do unto me? Remember them that have the rule over you, which speak unto you the word of God; and consider the issue of their life, imitate their faith. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever.

REPUBLICAN PANICS.

"Do you want a repetition of the Democratic panics that have marked the history of this country in recent years?" This is a favorite question with the Republican orators and organs.

The truth is that in recent years we haven't had any "Democratic panics," and men who seek to make it appear that the panics we have had are "Democratic panics" depend upon the forgetfulness of the men whom they seek to mislead.

Now, listen to this statement of a sane fact: During the last thirty years every panic that has happened in this country originated under Republican rule and developed under Republican legislation.

During the month of September, 1890, we had the famous gold panic, which gave to history the infamous "Black Friday." The Republican party was in power at that time.

During the month of September, 1873, we had the tremendous panic marked by the failure of Jay Cooke & Co. The Republican party was in power at that time.

Now let us look at the more recent panic which our Republican friends attribute to Democratic administration and to Democratic legislation.

"They call this 'the panic of 1893.' The record will show that this panic began under a Republican administration and developed to its worst extent under Republican legislation and before Democratic legislation was in operation.

Benjamin Harrison was inaugurated president March 4, 1889.

The McKinley tariff bill became a law October 3, 1890, the reports showed financial distress apparent in New York. The New York Clearing House association voted its certificates to banks in need of assistance. The Boston Clearing House association did the same thing, November 17. Barker Brothers & Co., big bankers in Philadelphia, suspended at that time, with liabilities at five million dollars.

November 19, 1890, there was a run on the Citizens' Savings bank of New York, and a receiver was appointed for the North River bank.

November 23, 1890, the United Rolling Stock company, of Chicago, assigned, with liabilities at $6,551,000.

November 28, 1890, B. K. Janieson & Co., the Philadelphia bankers, failed, with liabilities at two million dollars.

December 6, 1890, the Oliver Iron and steel mills, of Pittsburgh, shut down, discharging two thousand employees. On the same date the cotton firm of Myer & Co., of New Orleans, failed, with liabilities at two million dollars.

January 3, 1891, the Scottsdale rolling mill and pipe works and the Schuylkill furnace and coke works, in Pennsylvania, closed, throwing ten thousand employees out of work.

January 18, 1891, the America National bank, at Kansas City, suspended, with liabilities at $2,500,000.

May 8, 1891, the Spring Garden National bank at Philadelphia, closed its doors and the Pennsylvania Safe Deposit and Trust company made an assignment.

The Homestead strike, and others, during 1892 are well remembered by the people.

In May, 1893, S. V. White and others suspended in New York. The Chemical bank, in Chicago, and its branches, suspended. Other failures followed and finally the famous raids on the United States treasury were made.

Now, let us bear in mind that the so-called "panic of 1893" is designated a "Democratic panic," because the Cleveland administration issued bonds. But it has been shown that the panic originated under Republican administration and developed under Republican legislation.

Such is Fame.
"There is bound to be a fly in the honey," said the disconsolate looking citizen. "There's always some small circumstance that prevents joy from being complete."
"What is the trouble now?"
"The leading paper of my community printed my picture the other day."
"That was nice."
"And it said that I was one of the people whom everybody knew; that my fame was such that it had spread beyond the confines of my native city and was carrying light into the regions beyond."
"Splendid!"
"When they got a bit rubbed in the office and put my friend Wiggins' name under my picture."
"That was a little unfortunate."
"It isn't the worst. Not a soul noticed it except my wife. And all she said was that she didn't think it looked much like Wiggins!"—Washington Star.

Disappointed.

A young man of this city rang up a lady acquaintance of his in Court street some days ago, but instead of her answering the phone herself her elder sister did so. The young man recognized the difference at once and said in a suave, mellow voice:

"Won't you please deliver a message to Miss Clara?"

Delighted at the prospect of carrying a message that might result in giving her some insight into the relation that existed between her sister and the young man at the other end of the line, she answered:

"Why, certainly, with the greatest of pleasure!"

"Well, tell her to come to the phone."

—Memphis Scimitar.

Poor Good Habits.

There are four good habits—punctuality, accuracy, steadiness and dispatch. Without the first of these time is wasted. Without the second, mistakes are made. Without the third, credit and interest and that of others may be committed. Without the fourth, nothing can be well done and the fourth opportunities of great advantage are lost, which it is impossible to recall.

Shakespeare, among his many allusions to the swiftness, the influence and the helplessness of time, only once cites it as an article of food.

With these facts in view, let it be remembered that it was on January 17, 1894, that Mr. Carlisle directed a bond issue of fifty million dollars. That was seven months before the Wilson bill went into effect. But the Republican panic had performed its work well, and it paved the way for the infamous bond issue and gave to the gold brokers of New York a suggestion of how the treasury of the United States could be raided under the pretense of upholding the national honor.

These are the facts, and they sustain the claim that during the last thirty years every panic that has happened in this country originated under Republican rule and developed under Republican legislation.—New York Journal.
